

The Not-So-Few, the Proud, the Vulnerable

What follows are first-quarter fundraising numbers for potentially vulnerable House Members. The 40 Democrats are listed first; they appear on this list because they are in the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee's "Frontline" program to protect shaky incumbents. The National Republican Congressional Committee is putting together a similar program, but its participants won't be announced until summer. So the 30 Republicans listed here have been selected by Roll Call after consulting with political experts.
